OFFICERS IN PILIKIA.

Call .- A young woman with a saintly expression in her calm, guileless blue eyes discovered yesterday that pulling rare Oriental art treasures and hand some silks through the custom house is quite like drawing chestnuts from the fire. Miss Martha O. Wilson was the young woman, and the chestnuts, or rather embroidered silks and wicker furniture, proved eventually to belong to Dr. E. Dozier, ship surgeon on the Hougkong Maru, and Mrs. J. Kennedy, the stewardess,

Miss Wilson is a returning missionary. She told Collector of the Port Fred Stratton that the goods were for her mother's home, back in New York, and the kindly collector, noting the worthy vocation of the young woman, let them pass without much question ing. But when an expressman came for Miss Wilson's luggage he was directed to leave suspicious looking crates which had been entered as her property. Then the truth came out. Miss Wilson said the ship's doctor told her to bring in the goods and had said it was not wick ed to do no.

The speaker made all his statements in conservative language but stated plainly that in his opinion the commercial success of the industry was clear. The data from which the conclusions were deduced was secured during the past few months from work done at Nahiku. After detailing his deductions, Dr. Wilcox stated that a further series of test tappings would be undertaken to learn what hours were most profitably employed in the woods in tapping, while other tests would be made to see if it would be profitable to use some highly soluble and stimulating fertilizer at the soluble and stimulating fortilizer at the tapping periods to see if the flow of latex would be increased enough to make the use profitable.

C. J. Austin, manager of the Nahiku Rubber company, and C. Q. Jacobs, of Nahiku, an independent planter, spoke on the work done by them during the year, their remarks being confined to the experiences gained by them in cul-tivation and non-cultivation of the land, the distance of trees apart and other matters of practical interest. It was generally agreed that cultivation was profitable. Mr. Jacobs related an ex-perience he had with keeping down Hilo grass by pasturing sheep on it which had not been profitable. The sheep ate the grass satisfactorily but died after a few meals.

It is such industries as rubber, pineapples-which have been proven such a success that our production last year was greater than the whole consumption of the United States had been a few years agoobacco and such things that will bring homes and people here, intelligence and hings will mean to the future of the Territory in a financial way, a social way and in a political way. Without being in touch with the rubber industry, I feel that it is in good hands in Hawaii and if success is practicable t will be achieved by you.

B. F. Dillingham delivered an inspirng address, urging the rubber promers not to become discouraged by i cidental difficulties nor to listen to the roakings of Doubtful Thomases except o gain determination from the prophets to gain determination from the prophets of ill to succeed in spite of them and show them their folly.

'Difficulties attend all new enterprises,' said Mr. Dillingham, 'd ffleulties which at times seem enough to discourage the most sanguine. Probably most of you here have had misgivings over your work, have felt uncertain as to the outcome. I want to say a word of encouragement, for I have had my doubts and fears, have had many sleepless hour in the past twenty years of my life, but I have always been able to come out and back again in the sun that rubber will become what the most sanguine of you hope it will. What is suitable at all for our soil always seems to not only produce results equal to other places in the world but superior anything grown anywhere else. This a fact, Sisal is an instance of this.

Acting Governor Mott-Smith has ac knowledged receipt of invitations on behalf of himself and Governor Frear, and has expressed the sympathy of the people of Hawaii for the loss sustained by the Chinese people, from any place and that they would pay us ten cents a pound for all we could send them, when the world's price for all other sisals was seven and a balf cents."

Mr. Dillingham stated that the same was true of our pines and our sugar. species of rubber tree. That one case, he thought, had been a mistake on the part of the moth in selecting its nest.

Dr. Waterhouse on New Species.

Dr. Waterhouse read a paper on the new species of Manihot rubber trees, the discovery of which had excited great interest in the rubber world during the past two years, so much so that the demand for seed was far greater than the supply. These species are natives of the State of Babia and have increased the rubber output of that state eleven-fold in six years. Dr. Waterhouse's advice was for Hawaiian growers to watch the progress of the trees of these specimens sow growing

After a short address by Hugh How-ell, the father of the rubber industry of Maui, W. O. Smith was called upon as a representative of the parent industry to address the men of the infant industry. Mr. Smith made an excellent address on the necessity of having other industries than sugar in Hawali, stating that he looked upon rubber as sugar's nearest neighbor. He reminded his hearers that there had been set-backs in the sugar industry and also that sugar had only survived by dint of perseverance. There had been other industries started prior to suga. H. M. Whitney, founder of the Advertiser, and worked hard to introduce a cotton in-dustry and was a factor in establishing the rice industry here. Tobacco bad been tried and failed, but he hoped to see both tobacco and cotton reestab-

2 encouragement in it. There may be overproduction for a time, but there is formed to take over the automobile have been overproductions in other commodities. The production of sugar now is beyond all auticipation. This year in Europe were produced six million tons of beet sugar and in Hi waii we have produced this year over five hundred thousand tons alone. It seems privilege of increasing it to fifty thouat times that there might be an over production of pineapples, but this need not discourage us. Take the case of bananas. A short time ago they were a rarity except in seaports, now they are on sale everywhere. There is a and growing demand for pines and it is encouraging to know that in the Eastern States already the reputation of the Hawaiian canned pineapple places it at the head of all. "We must depend on products that can go into the world's markets. Temporary set-backs must not discourage us and it applied at the Market street recruiting will be the greatest boon if we can have something in this Territory to depend on besides sugar."

Other Speeches.

L. Tenney Peck made a witty address on the possibilities of rubber, being followed by E. C. Brown, R. A. Wadsworth, J. P. Cooke and W. G. Scott. Mr. Cooke congratulated the rubber men that they were starting in unprotected by tariff and did not need to live in a constant fear of tariff changes and a loss of advantage thereby. He stated that the sugar men would help and kokua the rubber in-dustry. He agreed with the statement that rubber was a small farmer opportunity.

Acting Governor Mott-Smith signed a reprieve for Morita Keizo yesterday postponing the day set for his execu-tion from November 27, to January 7 next year. This is the eleventh re-prieve which the condemned man has een given. He was convicted of murder in the first degree on March 27, 1906, in the Hilo Circuit Court, and the day of his execution was set by Governor Carter for January 8, 1907. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States on the question of whether the Circuit Courts had the authority. the Circuit Courts had the authority under the Organic Act or otherwise to naturalize aliens, a number of the grand jurors who found the indictment against Keizo being persons who had been nat-uralized in the Circuit Courts of the Territory, and not in the United States District Court, which it was claimed alone had jurisdiction to grant natural-mandate from that court cannot issue for ten days so that it would not leave Washington before November 27 and would not reach here until some time in December. Application will be made for a commutation of sentence to imprisonment and to give time for this to be considered would bring it to about the holidays. Hence the date was set to carry it over these. George Ono and the representative of one of the Japanese newspapers called on the Acting Governor day before yesterday and told him that an application for executive elemency would be made. It is understood that the request will be that the sentence of death may be commuted to imprisonment for life.

High Sheriff Henry has informed Keizo of the import of the dispatches from Washington in regard to his case. He seemed affected by the information though he sought to maintain an un-moved demeanor.

The Red Cross demonstration that was to have been held at Fort Shafwas to have been held at Fort Shafter next Saturday, under the auspices of the Nurses' Association, has been unavoidably postponed owing to the sudden call of most of the Hospital Corps, under Captain S. H. Wadhams, away from Honolulu.
